We're here for you

If you work with plants, trees, flowers or grass then we're your charity.

We're here to help with everyday challenges we know people face when it comes to their money, health, family and career, as well as providing support for life-changing events such as homelessness, redundancy, long-term ill health or bereavement.

We want people in horticulture to live well today and plan for a better future. So, if you're working or retired, you can turn to us through our digital services, Helpline or dedicated teams should you need a helping hand.
