

Site number: GPF204

Exhibitor: Perennial

PERENNIAL LIFELINE GARDEN TEAM

ABOUT COLM JOSEPH & DUNCAN CARGILL

Colm and Duncan's design for the Perennial Lifeline Garden was chosen following a competition run jointly by Perennial and the College in 2018, which required students to take inspiration from The Laskett Gardens in Herefordshire. Running separate garden design practices, their collaboration for Perennial at the RHS Chelsea Flower Show 2019 brings together their complementary skills and design approaches to explore the theme of celebrating heritage while looking to the future.

Colm Joseph

Colm graduated from the London College of Garden Design last summer with the highest overall mark ever awarded by the college. This was the springboard to establishing his own successful garden design practice, through which he offers full garden and landscape design services to residential and commercial clients across Cambridgeshire, Suffolk, Norfolk, Essex, Hertfordshire and London. He came to garden design following his previous career in international development. Originally from Belfast, Colm is based on the border of Cambridgeshire and Suffolk close to Newmarket.

www.colmjoseph.co.uk

Duncan Cargill

Duncan Cargill also comes to garden design as a second career, after working for twenty years as a creative director in the advertising industry creating campaigns for luxury brands. Having graduated from the London College of Garden Design, he established his successful garden design practice with business partner Tom Sykes. Together they offer garden and landscape design services to residential and commercial clients across London and south east England, as well as undertaking projects in France and Spain. Duncan recently won the Society of Garden Designers' 2019 Award for his graduate project, a garden in North Norfolk, which is a landscape close to his heart, as it is where he grew up.

www.cargillsykes.com

A special thanks goes to award-winning garden designer Andrew Fisher Tomlin who coordinated the design competition with the London College of Garden Design, that he runs jointly with Andrew Wilson. He has provided invaluable support to Colm and Duncan throughout the process of bringing their first garden to the Chelsea Flower Show and continues to support Perennial as an advisor and long-standing supporter.

	Colm Joseph Gardens	Co-designer of the garden, winner of the London College of Garden Design competition
	Duncan Cargill of Cargill Sykes	Co-designer of the garden, winner of the London College of Garden Design competition
	Conquest Creative Spaces	Main contractor overseeing the build, with support from James Coleman
 London Stone®	London Stone	Donating the Jura Limestone Paving and bespoke Limestone Pillars and benches
	London College Garden Design	Andrew Fisher Tomlin and the team at LCGD helped run the original design competition to create this garden, and have supported Colm and Duncan throughout the process
 STARK & GREENSMITH	Stark & Greensmith	Manufacturing and supplying the freestanding metal screens for the garden and are launching an exclusive Perennial Rose panel, inspired by The Laskett Gardens
 majestic t r e e s	Majestic Trees	Sourced and grew some of the bespoke topiary and the trees are being supplied on loan
	Hardy's Cottage Garden Plants	Supplying the majority of the perennial plants free of charge
	Peter Beales	Have supplied all the roses for the sustainable rose meadow and have provided invaluable insight and advice to the team
	Hortus Loci	Supplying the remaining plants and hosted the volunteer briefing day on Sunday 28 April

	CED Stone	Supplying the self-binding gravel for the pathways free of charge
	Association of Professional Landscapers	Providers apprentice volunteers to build the garden at the show
	Fairwater Ltd & Kelley Peers Design Partnership	Supplying the cascading water feature & rill

For the full press pack visit: www.perennial.org.uk/chelseapresspack

– ENDS –